

UIL ONE ACT PLAY CUTTING AUTHORIZATION

William L. Walker Montgomerie — Playwright

Any organization, institution, school, high school, middle school, or other educational program that has legally applied for and received performance rights to a play by William L. Walker Montgomerie for the sole purpose of participation in a University Interscholastic League (UIL) One Act Play competition is hereby granted permission to make cuts to the licensed script as necessary to meet UIL One Act Play competition requirements, including applicable performance-time limitations.

This authorization is intended to allow UIL directors and participating schools the flexibility necessary to prepare a competition-length version of the play without requiring the playwright's individual approval of each cut.

This permission is subject to the following conditions:

1. UIL Competition Only. This authorization applies exclusively to productions licensed specifically for participation in UIL One Act Play competition. It does not extend to regular season productions, festivals, showcases, public performances, classroom productions, other competitions, or any other performance outside the UIL One Act Play process.
2. Performance Rights Required. Permission to cut the script is valid only when the producing organization has properly obtained the required performance rights for the play. Possession or purchase of a script does not constitute permission to perform or alter the work.
3. Published Works and Performance Rights. Anyone wishing to produce any published work appearing on or represented through this site must obtain the appropriate performance rights and permission through the publishing body that licenses that work. Nothing contained on this site, including this UIL cutting authorization, constitutes a grant of performance rights. All applicable royalties, licensing requirements, and permissions established by the publisher must be secured before production.
4. Cuts, Not Rewrites. Material may be removed from the script for UIL competition purposes; however, this authorization does not grant permission to rewrite dialogue, add new dialogue or scenes, alter the playwright's language, substantially change characters, change the ending, or otherwise adapt the work without additional written permission from the playwright or authorized rights holder.

5. Integrity of the Work. Directors are encouraged to preserve the essential story, characters, themes, and dramatic intent of the original work when preparing their UIL competition cut.
6. Authorization Travels With UIL Rights Only. This standing permission applies only to the organization or institution that has secured performance rights specifically identifying the production as a UIL One Act Play competition production. It does not transfer to another organization, production, director, or subsequent use of the script.
7. Productions Outside UIL. Any organization or individual wishing to make cuts, alterations, or adaptations to a play by William L. Walker Montgomerie for a production outside of UIL One Act Play competition must request and receive approval from the playwright or authorized rights holder before making those changes.

This authorization is intended to eliminate the need for UIL-participating schools to seek separate approval for routine competition cuts while protecting the text and integrity of the playwright's work in all other circumstances.

Permission to cut for UIL competition does not constitute permission to perform, rewrite, or adapt the work. Performance rights for published works must be obtained through the appropriate publishing body.
